THE Welsh Rugby Union has raised thousands of pounds for Ty Hafan with an Apprenticestyle 'Charity Shop Challenge' at four stores in south Wales last week.

Thirty-five employees teamed up to run Ty Hafan's charity shops in Barry, Bridgend, Caerphilly and Cardiff on August 10, raising a total of £9,428 for the

In Bridgend, fundraising was boosted by British and Irish

Lions, Wales and Ospreys scrumhalf Rhys Webb, who paid a surprise visit to the Bridgend store to donate kit which was quickly snapped up, with all proceeds going to the hospice.

Webb's arrival turned heads in the town and on social media when he took part in a unique Welsh rugby mascot race initiated by the competitive team of WRU employees to promote footfall into the store. The total amount raised reached £2,440.

PMs should set the tone surprising to read the article by Michael Prosser in The GEM's July 6 edition headed Madeleine Moon asks what are British values?'

Our local MP's questions raised many valid points and MPs of all parties should ask themselves these pertinent questions and to answer them honestly.

The general public's views of the claims made regarding "the British sense of fair play" and "the so-called unbiased decisions arrived at by our legal system", differ greatly from each other.

We can be sure that all MPs deal with a constant stream of problems experienced by their constituents, so they must be fully aware that "all in the garden is not rosy". Furthermore, they will be aware that our system of government is in desperate need of a complete overhaul.

We all have the right to straight answers to straight questions – and to expect them to be answered honestly and hopefully, that PMs vould set an example to their numbers and to the electorate.

Sadly, our political history is riddled with statements issued by PMs over the years, and which turned out to be 'wishful thinking"

A few examples: Harold Wilson, on the day when they devalued the pound: "The pound in your pocket will be the same." This was totally untrue, as by today, the pound is almost worthless.

Margaret Thatcher stated: "Where there are divisions, we will unite." She did exactly the opposite.

Tony Blair convinced the majority of us that "Iraq had weapons of mass destruction"

Gordon Brown repeatedly assured us that - "There will be no return to boom and bust," and that "No one is above the law.'

David Cameron, Nick Clegg (Deputy PM) both declared their intention to "Make Britain a fairer country.

Mrs May has continued with this latter intention: we can only wait with bated breath.

I was amazed no one picked up on my two letters and now Corbyn and McDonnell are happy to promise more of the same.

OLIVIA (7) MEETS HER GYMNASTICS HEROINE

A gymnastics-mad girl from Maesteg, Olivia Jones, has been receiving some expert advice on how she can recover from a broken elbow from former world champion Beth Tweddle.

But her mother says it was the care she received from ABMU staff that put her on the road to recovery and made sure she was well enough to meet her sporting idol.

Keen gymnast and dancer Olivia, who has just turned seven, was playing in her grandparents' garden with her elder sister, Megan, when she fell over a tennis ball.

She was in such pain hat her parents, Beth and Barry, took her to Neath Port Talbot Hospital's Minor Injury Unit where she was diagnosed with a fracture and told she would need an operation at Morriston Hospital. Beth, of Maesteg, said: "The care that Olivia received was exceptional and all members of the team saw were caring. compassionate and professional.

allowed home that night.

As a squad member of Maesteg Llynfi Valley Gymnastics Club, Olivia normally trains twice a week as well as doing ballet and modern dance.

"Because she is so active, Olivia found the first few weeks extremely frustrating.

"But when she found out Beth Tweddle would be doing a gymnastics camp in Cardiff as part of a national tour and she would be unable to take part because of her injury she was very upset," added her mum. Fortunately, Olivia was still able to go along to the Sports Wales National Centre on the day, where she met Beth who gave her some useful advice on recovering from injuries.

After having the wires removed from her arm at an outpatient clinic, Olivia is now back in action, working on her flexibility and fitness and although she is unable to do weight-bearing exercises at the moment, she is expected to make a full recovery. Her mother said: "We were really worried that her arm might not heal properly.

Barney's chronic illness means that he will need treatment for the rest of his life. Hospital visits have become routine for Barney and his family, as he needs regular blood tests and checkups. The future of Barney's condition is unknown, with experts predicting that Barney's kidney disease could eventually result in kidney failure, meaning Barney could need a kidney transplant.

Speaking about the importance of the work the charity does, Sam said: "Running in aid of Kidney Wales makes me proud to raise awareness for a charity that has had such a large impact on my family, having helped my son Barney tackle his chronic "Kidney Wales are forever finding new ways of supporting kidney disease sufferer's and their families: from covering costs of parking when visiting the hospital daily, to offering entertainment and iPads in the dialysis room. They even provide play therapists that comfort and distract Barney whilst he has his blood tests.

"Kidney Wales were a huge help to our family when Barney spent the first eight weeks of his life in hospital. We wouldn't be where we are today without their supportive network. They deserve to be recognised for all of their efforts.'

After achieving her Cardiff 10K personal best of one hour, three minutes in her first race. Sam has set herself up for achieving her goal of one hour this September.

"For me, the race is always an overwhelming experience. The atmosphere is amazing. Seeing everyone wearing their Kidney Wales running gear makes us feel like part of a larger family that are all working together with one aim.

In anticipation for the race next month, Sam and her fellow Pencoed Panther runners have been fundraising in a variety of ways, setting up text donation and shaking their fundraising Speaking ahead of the race, Roy Thomas, Chief Executive of Kidney Wales said: "It's so encouraging to see how Barney and his wonderful family are working through such difficult times, and are looking towards the Cardiff 10K with optimism.

"Everyone at Kidney Wales wants to thank everyone who is raising money on our behalf and taking part in this year's 10K - good luck!"

ON Sunday, August 6, Terry Jones, who is known in Porthcawl for his fruit shop in John Street set out on a massive running challenge, from Buckingham Palace to Porthcawl, supported by a group of friends.

The reason for taking up the challenge was that on November 2. 2006, Terry's sister Louise, aged 16, together with three friends, was killed on Llanginidir Mountain.

In the aftermath of this tragedy, Terry and his wife Louise decided to get involved with Road Peace, a national charity that helps victims and families of road crashes.

The challenge meant running 235 miles over seven days – an average of over 33 miles a day finishing on Saturday, August 12 in John Street, where Terry and his supporting group were met by the Mayor of Porthcawl, Coun Lorrie Desmond-Williams.

Rhiannon learns of a Barry man's chance meeting with her father

TWO weeks ago, The GEM told the story of Rhiannon Storrs, who was looking for long-lost father.

A mother of two, who lives in Yorkshire, she was desperate to track down David Gwynfor Jones, known as 'Buck', who was a familiar character to many people in Barry in the late 1970s and early 1980s.

Buck worked for Pioneer Concrete and played darts in the local leagues. He even once took on world champion Bristow exhibition match Rhiannon hasn't seen him for around 30 years, and believes he went to live in north Wales. She was hoping that someone in Barry might have information that might lead her to him.

Not long after the story hit the streets, someone phoned up The GEM with interesting Brian Williams from Barry called to say he'd seen Buck at Winchester Services on the M3 four years ago. Mr Williams was working as a lorry driver at the time.

He said: "I was at the services sitting in my that lorry having my 45- was.

Vale, presented by the City Deal. Coun Thomas said: "The City Deal is quite rightly being seen as a significant and exciting prospect for both the Vale and the region as a whole.

"It is as a result more important than ever that we invest our time and efforts in having meaningful conversations about the future of both the wider region and the Vale.

"Wales' only international airport and the adjacent St Athan Enterprise Zone are both of great importance to the national economy and their location at the heart of the Vale means the potential benefits of the City Deal to the Vale economy are hugely significant.

"The decision by Aston Martin to select the Vale as the location for its newest manufacturing base in the UK and that of Renishaw to continue to expand operations near to junction 34 of the M4 both show that the Vale is able to attract serious investment."

Earlier this year, the Vale Council established a City Deal reserve fund to ensure its financial commitment to the Deal is met in the most prudent way possible.

Vale MP Alun Cairns said: "The business breakfast was a great start to another excellent Vale Show, It's imperative that residents and business owners in the Vale are informed on the impact which the City Deal will have and I'm very pleased that the Vale Council facilitated such a meeting.'

UK 'NEVER GOOD AT GOVERNING HERSELF

WOULD advise Jeff Goodwin (GEM) letters, August 10) to revisit Britain's history down the years before making such throw away statements as "We have been governing ourselves since 1707. We do not need help from a mainly unelected

I would suggest that better scrutiny will show that we have never been very good without help.

The governance of this country from London rates well below average as far as it relates to all of its citizens.

However, he might regard that as it has always been a good place for the greedy, well-heeled and privileged elite.

He makes reference to the EU gravy train as if our lot are incorruptible. He conveniently overlooks the brown envelopes and MP expenses scandals in more recent times. So to get a more accurate picture, we need to go no further back in time than the 1960s and early 1970s.

While we were governing ourselves at this time, virtually all European countries were experiencing

Andrew RT Davies, South Wales Central Regional AM

Consultation documents are 'too technical'

WAS very disappointed to read statements in The GEM newspaper from Nadia De Longhi of NRW that transparency of consultation with the community is 1,000-plus pages of loose leaf technical papers, needing a degree or a degree of technical expertise to understand.

This is an act of smoke and mirrors in talking to DIAG, who are a small volunteer group working in their own time, and stating they can flag up concerns for the applicant Biomass (no money), backed by Aviva (loads of money) to address. This is the job of civil servants, NRW's planning health environment officers, paid for out of the public purse to scrutinise and test applications that could do harm to taxpayers.

Politicians are elected to represent their electorate – they have a powerful position and are also paid for out of the public purse – have they listened to our concerns?

There is something very wrong with an application to build an incinerator with no licence, applications full of errors, and what appear to be described as the "sick man of Europe".

NRW are still pandering to money men intent on blighting our town for at least a generation.

This is either gross incompetence, or we have been going through a sham consultation, because whatever arguments against – however compelling – will be ignored, and Barry will become an even more polluted town. Paul Robertson, Barry.

Targets for blame included: (a) failure to invest in new plant and machinery, (b) restrictive working practices, (c) amateurish management, (d) loss of markets, (e) rise of competition in these markets. We couldn't hack it then, so how does he imagine we can now do so on our own when we have to operate in climate of much sterner global trading conditions?

Wisely, we joined the EU in 1973 and gradually recovered and relatively prospered so that such a description no longer applied to us.

Mr Goodwin gives us a good insight into the prejudicial minds of some of the 'Leavers', particularly when they find the need to coin such a facile term as 'Remoaners'. They have become fond of deliberately using the term in a derisive way as if to say the 'Remainers' have no further right to counter with opposing facts while in their honest belief, they are endeavouring to act in the best interests of the country and all its citizens.

They also seem fond of proclaiming their own idea of democracy as being finite. Democracy did not end on the outcome of the referendum. If they truly believe in democracy, they would accept that it continues to exist and that the "Remainers" have every right to continue to put their case without being subjected to such derisive and prejudicial

Finally, as Mr Goodwin has conjured up a copious amount of statistics, perhaps I could counter and give the more simplistic and sobering statistic that 12,944,339 of the total electorate of 46.500.001 did not vote.

If we lived in a true democracy – like Australia and some other modern countries where compulsory voting exists – there is some anecdotal evidence (not conclusive, of course) to suggest that a different outcome would have occurred. D Williams, Rhoose.

There's too much industry already at Barry Docks

VE watched with increasing dismay the construction of the incinerator at Barry Docks every time I pass by.

I'm amazed by two things: the gargantuan size of it; and the fact that it is there at all.

Surely no rational person could possible think that siting such an immense incinerator, or any incinerator for that matter, approximately 300 yards from hundreds, maybe even thousands, of established homes; less than 100yds from hundreds of proposed future homes; approximately a quarter of a mile from BP and Dow chemical works; a few metres across the dock where the chemical boat delivers its load to BP and Dow; approximately 200yds from the rail track that regularly has trains transporting more hazardous chemicals; and next door to a haulage firm that also has tankers of even more chemicals parked up there, was a good idea? Could they?

There are records and a growing history of woodchip and waste wood fires burning out of control for days, even weeks, at a time, giving off noxious, harmful smoke and fumes, affecting people for miles around.

This is an extremely worrying and frightening extra hazard for Barry residents to have to deal with. Is it the case because Barry and the Vale are in the top 15 areas of high pollution levels in the UK and that the 'powers that be' assume we won't mind some more pollution?

Or think its best to keep it all in the same place? In common with many other Barry residents, I worry about this constantly.

Along with writing letters and emails to National Resources Wales, and anyone else who has influence over these matters, we all hope and pray that somebody, somewhere, will come to their senses and put peoples' health and wellbeing before big business interests.

The Glamorgan Gem Win 5 books of Angela Gray's, Summer Recipes.

Closing date 25 August 2017

Scrumptious summer recipes!

 $\label{thm:condition} \textbf{Angela Gray's new book, Summer Recipes, draws inspiration from the rich and colourful}$ seasonal larder to recreate a collection of recipes she's shared with friends, family and guests over the years. There's a particular emphasis on al fresco eating - one of the great pleasures of the summer.

"When I was young, picnics were commonplace, and the beach in Porthcawl where I grew up always beckoned," says Angela. "I still love eating al fresco, the outdoors seems to sharpen the appetite and senses so the enjoyment of eating is heightened."

Angela also takes inspiration from her travels to France, Italy, Greece Spain, to create sun-kissed recipes, using fresh fruit and vegetables. Her visits to Canada have also provided a culinary insight, especially into the skill of producing a great barbecue.

"All these influences, as well as being home in Wales have shaped my recipes," she says. "I hope you enjoy cooking and eating them."

Peter Gill, Graffeg MD, says,

'Angela's great skill is that she can translate her gift for cooking into wonderful recipes that everyone can cook and enjoy at home. The wide choice of dishes she offers means that there is a meal for every occasion, from a quick and tasty supper to a special dinner."

Angela Gray has her cookery school at Llanerch Vineyard in the Vale of Glamorgan. Summer Recipes, published by Graffeg in hardback, with pictures by Huw Jones, is available now, price £9.99, www.graffeg.com

Taking a look over a summer of cinematic triumphs and disasters

INEMA has changed a lot in the last decade. The advent of new, and more-readily available, technologies such as IMAX screens, 3D, 4DX have revolutionised the viawing experience for viewing experience for cinemagoers.

Equally, the business of film has changed; the advent of Netflix and Amazon has seen films made by these streaming services' studios bypass cinemas and go straight to their libraries for people to watch in the comfort of their own home, while the importance of box office returns, now perhaps more than ever, is critically high.

As such, while once we were bombarded with blockbusters primarily in the summer months, now the blockbuster season pretty much stretches all year round, with the likes of the Harry Potter and Lord of the Rings films carving out a slot nearer Christmas, one that didn't harm their box office at all.

But so far this year it's been underwhelming, both critically and commercially with this ummer's box office revenue the worst in a decade. The blockbusters offered up just haven't passed muster, sometimes with critics, sometimes with audiences, sometimes with neither. So as we hit what, theoretically, should be the tail end of the 'blockbuster season', what have been the hits and the misses so far?

Starting earlier and earlier, Logan (March 3) was the opening act of the season – and what an act it was, concluding Hugh Jackman's tenure as Wolverine with a thoughtful, slow-burning film that transcended genre to be one of the most rugged and heartbreaking films of the year – if only the quality had kept up.

Instead, there were a mixture of great successes and epic failures. It's always good to end on a positive so in the negative column we find the likes of Alien: Covenant, which was not only the worst film in the Alien series, but also arguably the worst film Ridley Scott has ever made; an interminable mess of a film that lacked any redeeming features.

Three more poor efforts were Guy Ritchie's take on Arthurian legend in King Arthur: Legend of the Sword which was less legendary and more just a damp squib, the Dwayne Johnson-starring Baywatch which proved that even the mighty former Rock is fallible when it comes to sprinkling his box office fairy dust, and the latest Pirates of the Caribbean outing, Dead Men Tell No Tales, which was the best offering since the first one but a film that was still lacking any real spark.

The Transformers
franchise received its usual commercial kicking with the atrocious The Last Knight, a film only truly notable for Sir Anthony Hopkins' incredibly entertaining, and gorgeously hammy, acting, while The Emoji Movie managed to make a double bill of The Last Knight and Alien: Covenant seem a welcome respite commercially and critically skewered to oblivion, a fate that similarly befell The Mummy, a woeful affair that threatens to derail Universal's 'Dark Universe' before it's even begun. There's been some fairly decent offerings also. however; Guardians of the Galaxy Vol.2 was a deeply satisfying sequel, Kong: Skull Island was a pulpy and joyous delight, Fast & Furious 8 ticked the blockbuster boxes without reaching the heights of the previous few outings, Beauty and The Beast's live-action offering gorgeously realised, while Valerian and the City of a Thousand Planets was a messy, but enjoyable, affair.

The highlights have been very strong, however The aforementioned Logan, the recalibration of the fledgling DC universe in the tremendous Wonder Woman (possibly my favourite blockbuster of the year so far), while Edgar Wright's ice-cool Baby Driver shone out in a summer of superheroes and franchises. Chris Nolan produced what is arguably his greatest directorial feat yet in the brutal, uncompromising Dunkirk while War for the Planet of the Apes concluded that franchise's trilogy with an emotional send-off, and Marvel finally got their hands on Spider-Man and Hilling to date in Homecoming.

Of course summer isn't over, with the likes of Stephen King adaption The Dark Tower (August 18), Steven Soderbergh's return to the big screen with to the big screen with Logan Lucky, American Made, Tom Cruise's second stab at summer (after The Mummy) in American Made, Katherine Bigelow's race drama Detroit, stretching as far as November with Thor: Ragnarok, the latest Marvel offering.
And if you thought that wrapped the year up, don't forget the small matter of Star Wars Episode VIII: The Last Jedi coming in ecember. So the blockbuster season shows no signs of slowing up or even ending – but will the quality match the quantity

REINVENTING THE CONSERVATORY ROOF REPLACEMENT & CONSERVATORY UPGRADE OPTIONS

As few as five years ago, polycarbonate would have been the main choice for a conservatory roof.

While letting plenty of light in, some too bright in summer while cool in Building technology has moved on, and there are now two solid roots that can convert a conservatory

The first is a lightweight, "filed" roof that takes its design dues from the states and files found on most UK.

Created using aluminium panels, with Kingspan insulation, these conservatory roots can achieve a u value at just 0.16, similar to that of a normally constructed, modern roat,

With this roof option, the interior of the conservatory can include a plastered ceiling with down-lighters or even roof windows for ventilation and sky views.

For a more confemporary feet the LivinRoof combines sleek lines and thermal efficiency to create something that looks very contemporary.

With the LivinRoot entire panels can be found that their conservatories could be glazed to create a hybrid solid and glass roof allowing you to choose where to have shaded areas and where to have more light.

Enjoying the very best of rural life, at an excellent Vale of Glamorgan Show

PHOTOGRAPHS by MIKE WILCOCK

ONE of the many pleasures of the Vale Show, which took place last Wednesday, August 9, is just wondering around, taking note of the sheer variety of things that are going on.

Local photographer Mike Wilcock did just that, capturing these images of locals enjoying a special day.

GEM NOTE: The results of the many competitions that were contested during the show are currently collated.

See next week's GEM for the winners!

Wanderers beaten by near neighbours

BARRY Wanderers failed to do the double over near neighbours neighbours
Centurions
Saturday
Saturday Sully comfortable winners by 135 runs.

At 112 for 7 though, Sully were in a spot of bother thanks to a superb bowling spell from Gareth Hughes who took five wickets.

The one wicket he could not take though was Dave Goodway who first steadied the ship and then with the help of Kieron Ferriday, took the game away from the Wanderers.

Despite a typically aggressive 33 from Rhett ones, no other top order batsman from Sully other than Goodway made any impression on but scorebook partnership of Goodway and Ferriday which ended up unbeaten on 153 from 106 balls was one to grace any cricket field literally ran They Barry into the ground with no single turned down and a sharpness in the running that gave no respite to the fielders.

There were some big shots but overall it was sensible cricket and sensible cricket and when Goodway reached his century he continued and then in the last over really let loose and took 26 off the last over to finish on a sumptuous 135 not out off 118 balls, including 16 fours and two sixes, while his partner ended on 42 in a perfect supporting role for the total to be 266 for

The Wanderers found themselves in a similar position during the first game of the season but couldn't kill off the opposition and here it as the same.

Things could not have been any worse for the Wanderers as George Allen was caught behind from the very first ball of the reply.

Just after drinks in the 23rd over the score was 94 for 3 and although a victory would have taken something like Goodway had done earlier, there was no doubt that 200 and full batting points were a realistic target.

Unfortunately, Matt Anderson fell for a typically brave 40 in which he was in a lot of all out and once again the batting was a big letdown.

To top his day off, Goodway managed two wickets and a run out.

Sully fully deserved their win and the partnership was to be admired even from an opposition pair of eyes.

The second team game at Hayes Point was a much tighter affair and went to the last over with Sully coming out on top in a thrilling climax.

Earlier the Wanderers posted 153 mainly thanks to Phil Wolfenden with 33 and in reply Jason Hicks made 35 before Lewis Pike and Ewan Thomas saw them through to make the scores level with one ball to go.

Sully got over the line and The Wanderers were left deflated as winning Special mention to young Luke Grant who bowled his eight overs for only six runs and one wicket and the not-so-voung Chris Barnes and Tim Bowker with two wickets each.

on Sunday, they travelled to St Mellon's to play Lisvane and despite a wonderful 50 from Kunal Mhadgut fell short by 52 runs. Thankfully president was absent so didn't witness the usual collapse. On the plus side, there were a few guests playing who had a good time and Emma Davies managed to get a day off work and play.

Her enthusiasm, making the scorebook look wonderful, have been missed on Sundays this year.

This Saturday is a massive game at massive game at Monkswood for the first team with there now being a possibility that three teams could go down which probably will be either Barry Wanderers or Monskwood.

The seconds entertain the same club and on Sunday it's off down Barry Island to play Barry West End. AF a dreary evening with intermittent showers a depleted Cadoxton team visited Barry Romilly and although having close results on three of the rinks, the fourth rink skipped by an unfit Don Kuhnell found Roger Jones his opposite number in good form and was comprehensively beaten.

Howard Craven skipped the only successful rink against Jeff Wright, while Jim Davies was narrowly defeated by one shot against Mike Doyle. Derek Jeffries also skipped a close encounter with Mel Newman, losing by just three shots. The game was eventually curtailed after 15 ends due to the weather.

Scores: A Prince, J Papoutsou, S Clarke D Jeffries 9-12 S Simpson, P Clarke, K Mills, M Newman; D Tuck, D Hammond, R Mills, M Newman; D Tuck, D Hammond, R Byrne, J Davies 12-13 P Herbert, T Broomfield, P Gershenson M Doyle; J Stacey, W Craven, D Kuhnell 7-26 A Bannister, G Rees, P Swannick, R Jones; G Solomon, P Ellis H Craven 13-8 D Noble, D Mottram, C Collins, J Wright. Final score: 41-59.

CADOXTON V RUMNEY 'A' – FRIENDLY

Steve Clarke filled a late vacancy, as captain, and skipped a rink in this friendly fixture, at home, against

The rink was in front throughout the game but with two ends left the advantage was just two shots. A '3' and a single ensured a win.

Howard Craven made a late start on his rink, being 5-0 down after three ends. However with just one further single in the next nine ends they held a 13-6 lead. The good form continued until the end.

Kelvin Children also took some time to get going, with his four. They held a 8-7 advantage, but then took over the supremacy including two '5's in the remaining ends, to complete another superb win.

The final rink skipped by Jim Davies was in complete command from start to finish. A strong finish brought eight winning ends with just a single against, to complete the success on all rinks.

Scores: J Stacey, I Heppenstall, I Robertson, S Clarke 19-13; G Solomon, A Prince, W Craven, H Craven 19-10; J Prince, W. Claven, H. Claven, 19-10, J. Papoutsou, M. Curtis, D. Jeffries, K. Chedgzoy 24-9; E. Heppenstall, D. Hammond, R. Byrne, J. Davies 28-8. Final score: 90-40.

CADOXTON V BARRY CENTRAL -MUNRO CUP

Barry Central were the visitors to Victoria Park for this week's Munro

Cup match, which they won quite easily.
Only one of the home rinks was successful, with an outstanding triumph for Derek Jeffries against Tom Kaged. They opened with a 10-1 lead after four ends.

This was virtually cancelled out over the next four, but a '6' opened a gap again. The visitors came back with a '5' to make the home advantage 18-13 after 10 ends.

This was built on during the remaining ends with just one further losing end. This success was more than cancelled out on the next rink with Ivor Robertson's four struggling to keep in contention with the rink skipped by David Goddard.

The home rink only managed wins on five of the ends to lose heavily. Howard Craven's rink reached the 10th end with a 13-8 advantage against Tom Goddard, but stuck on the dreaded '13' for the remainder of the game. Steve Clarke

Steve Clarke playing in the unaccustomed position of skip had John Bergland as his opposite number. A fairly closely contested match went in favour of the visitors due mainly to '5' shots scored on two occasions during the game.

Scores: E. Heppenstall, M. Curtis, D. Hammond, D. Jeffries 31-15 J. Belby, H. Freestone, M. Peper, T. Caged; D. Tuck, J. Papoutsou, I Heppenstall, S Clarke 14-18 M Hoare, J Froud, J Selley, J Bergland; J Stacey, G Solomon, D Evans, I Robertson 6-26 R Pearce, A Castle, G Goldthorpe, D Goddard; H Hellyar, A Prince, W Craven, H Craven 13-18 D Hunt, S Walker, K Tanner, T Goddard, Final score: 64-77

CADOXTON V RUMNEY - CML 5 Cadoxton's visions of winning their division this year received a serious setback following a defeat at home to their close rivals Rumney.

Roy Harding skipped the only successful rink. They started off by winning the opening six ends to lead 9-0. Over the next eight ends the difference narrowed slightly with three singles scored and five against.

The battle continued with 7 shots each during the next six ends. However a '3' on the final end ensured the good victory.

Kelvin Chedgzoy struggled with his rink during the opening six ends to trail 1-8. A good run brought the difference to just one but a '3' stopped the improvement

The remaining ends were then won alternatively, which left the visitors with a narrow success.

Howard Craven also found problems in the opening six ends and after conceding a '5' were 1-12 behind. There was a slight glimmer of hope when the difference was reduced with a '3' and '4', but only two ingles in the later stages were scored whilst 15 were conceded.

After conceding a '5' on the first end Don Kuhnell clawed the way back to just one shot, on his rink, but eventually the pressure took over and the game ran away with just one single in the following nine ends

A '2' and '3' in the closing stages were too late to make any difference, to the

Scores: A Prince, I Heppenstall, I Robertson, D Kuhnell 12-27; G Solomon, S Clarke, P Ellis, H Craven 11-29; E Heppenstall, R Byrne, D Jeffries, K Chedgzoy 14-19; W Craven, J Papoutsou, J Davies, R Harding 22-12. Final score:

WOLVES' CUP

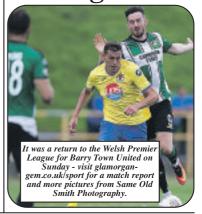

AFC Wolves, a new club in the Vale leagues, recently entered the Welsh Supercup.

The event was staged over four days in Cardiff. The Barry lads had a small squad available for the tournament due to holidays, but certainly left a great impression with their attacking football.

Beating teams from Cardiff and over the bridge, the boys narrowly missed out on the main prize, losing to a very good Cambrian and Clydach Academy after leading for two thirds of the match.

Special thanks to all the parents and guardians who took the time off to support the lads. LS

OOSE NIPPERS HEAD (WEST) TO PORT FOR LIFESAVING EVENT

On a very wet and windy July weekend, 36 intrepid Rhoose Nippers travelled to Newport, west Wales for the Welsh Surf Lifesaving Champs.

The nippers competed over two days, in many and varied events throughout the weekend, from a surf race, board race, Super Nipper through to long run, sprint and flags, which is an agility event and can be pretty hard going to get through round after round.

On top of the individual events

there are also relays to take part in, which is usually the nippers' favourite and also the crowds, and it's during these events that the cheering and shouting reaches its peak.

Local bowlers pick up annual pairs trophy

LAST weekend saw the climax of the annual Ron Thomas Memorial Pairs competition, an annual event which is popular with bowlers from across south Wales.

The numbers were whittled down during the week to allow the semi-final and final to be played on Sunday at the 4Wood green at Barry Island. The first semi saw Brian Sage and Terry Bratcher built up a healthy lead over Jon Ackland and Matt Gershenson, however scoring 10 shots over two ends left the Dinas pair just three shots behind with one end left.

The pressure was building on Whitchurch's Brian Sage as the head developed in the Dinas pair's favour but he held his nerve to draw shot with his final bowl to secure his place in the final.

In the other semi, despite being close for most of the game Clive Todd and Richard Janes pulled away from Craig Maycock and Mark Jones over the last five ends to secure their place in the final.

The final started well with both sides trying to establish an advantage but it was the Dinas Powys pair of Clive Todd and Richard Janes who found the pace of the green first and quickly established a commanding lead, eventually running out victors by

They were presented with their trophy and winners' cheques by Mary Thomas, with thanks to the kind sponsorship of BTI and Watkins and Gunn.

Tournament organiser Mike Vaughan who had worked tirelessly throughout the week with his team of bar and kitchen staff to make the tournament a success was pleased with the way the tournament had gone.

Mike said: "This is a very popular annual tournament played on one of the best greens in Wales; it was played in the right spirit throughout it was great to see a local pair pick up the honours."

The competition will be back next year and will surely prove as popular and competitive as ever. Barry Athletic's woes on the road continued as they slipped to another away defeat against Ystradfechan on the weekend, slipping to a nine shot defeat.

There was some consolation for the Barry team as they collected the points for two winning rinks skipped by Richard Bowen and David Wright, but those wins were never enough to cover the shots deficits on the rinks skipped by Glyn Thomas and particularly Robert Horgan. The match started quite well for Barry and the shots difference was very close at the mid point. eventually losing by seven shots.

Richard Bowen, up against the experience of Bob Gilbert and captain Mike Stuckey had built up a 14-4 lead, while David Wright had built a 12-6 lead over Chris Price. Glyn Thomas, with pairs partner Martin Clarke at third. was in touch with the rink of Ceri Evans but five shots dropped on the 10th end contributed to a 14-5 deficit they were never going to fully claw back, eventually slipping to a four shot defeat.

Robert Horgan's rink with Dick Cowling at third were always in trouble against former Athletic player Mark Thomas. With Lol Paige and Chris Wright failing to match the consistency of the home side's front end, Robert was always looking to defend on the challenging Treorchy surface.

With the majority of bowls in the head Mark Thomas was able to frustrate the experienced Barry skip and record a 14 shot home victory by 23 shots to 9.

Elsewhere, Bob Gilbert was making a determined come back against Richard Bowen winning four ends in a row including a count of four on the 13th end to reduce the deficit to 14 shots to Another run of four ends saw the score move the home rink within two shots of the Barry rink but a determined effort with telling bowls when needed by Russ Harris, John Caldwell and Geoff Whittaker saw Richard Bowen navigate his way to another rink win, returning a 20-16 scorecard.

David Wright with Peter

Rogers very effective again at third, were able to build on their advantage at 10 ends and open up a 21-7 lead; at this point the Barry side were in a good position overall to build their advantage and take the away victory and the important winning bonus points.

However a disastrous run over the last five ends saw the Barry rink have their lead cut by nine shots and gave the home side the advantage needed to record the valuable win.

Despite this third away loss in a row, the Barry side are still optimistic on their prospects on survival in the top division; however next up was buoyant Carruthers semi-finalists Merthyr West End where the home side slipped to their first home defeat of the season

Barry had home advantage on the 4Wood green at Barry Island, but it was the visitors that demonstrated the mastery of the surface as they cruised to a 53 shot victory over a depleted Barry

All four of the Barry rinks slipped to defeat with only Glyn Thomas' rink showing any resistance against their opponents

Richard Bowen and david Wright were all well beaten on the day with many of the Barry players not performing at anything close to their ability nor at the level required to be competitive in what is the toughest league in Welsh bowls

Elsewhere, the PG2 side had back to back fixtures to cement themselves as promotion favourites.

The weekend started well with comfortable victory against Cardiff Athletic and winning 12 of the 14 points available, with rink wins by Paul Webley, Mike Vaughan and Dave Snelling setting the foundation for the victory.

match was quickly followed by a visit to Pontyclun where a victory would have ensured promotion back to the top division. However, with several of the squad called up to fill gaps in the first team, a depleted Barry side could only manage four points and suffered their first defeat in eight matches.

Rink wins were secured by Paul Webley by three shots including an eight on the 20th end, and Mike Vaughan who played exceptionally well with his father William at third to come away with a one shot victory: however rink defeats for Dave Snelling by nine shots, normally so reliable this season and Albert Mintern saw the Athletic lose narrowly by an eight shot margin.

Over the next couple of weeks the season's spoils will be decided and there is still much to play for; the Athletic's first team are in a four way battle for survival in the top division and with 84 points still to play for there is much optimism that sufficient points can be collected to avoid relegation

The PG2 side are realistically looking for one more win to guarantee promotion but will also be eyeing up the champions tag as they battle with St Fagans for the crown, and with a place in the Alun Martin Final to play against Penarth Windsor and a battle with Barry Romilly for the top spot in the Munro Cup.

The Athletic players will need to regroup after a disappointing weekend to show their mettle in the closing few weeks of the

Again at home on Wednesday in the Munro Cup competition, the visitors were the Murch club from Dinas Powis whose home green is generally heavy without
